

CAN YOU HELP KIDS FOR KIDS HELP CHILDREN IN SUDAN?

HELP BUY A GOAT FOR A CHILD - JUST £12 and a child will have milk each day

Mothers in Darfur, in the west of Sudan, are desperately in need of our help. They have no means of making sure their children have a healthy diet. They are farmers but, even in good years when the rains come, the harvest cannot be guaranteed. Often the haboob, the wind carrying sand across the desert, destroys the seedlings, and in summer the heat is searing.

KIDS FOR KIDS lends goats so that the children can drink their milk – and have the vitamins, proteins and minerals they so urgently need to be healthy. We lend five nanny goats and one billy goat to the poorest families, and after two years six healthy kids go to another needy family, and the other kids stay to form a little flock.

KIDS FOR KIDS believes in long term, self sustainable projects working with the local community. We help provide handpumps to prevent small children walking up to seven hours to reach water, and we lend donkeys to carry water and fodder. Our veterinary schemes have already prevented outbreaks of worm and contagious pneumonia in goats.

Khadija had six children. She was desperate. Her children did not go to school and she had very little to feed them with. With the help of our goats her children are now healthy, she has sold some goats to buy sheep and a camel for her husband, and the excess milk has paid for schooling for all her children. She is now head of her women's community group and is showing other families how to care for their goats.

Khalida Adam Musa bought antibiotics for her sick daughter, 2 garments and 3 pairs of sandals for the children, and veterinary drugs and a salt lick for her Kids for Kids goats – all from selling one male kid. This was the first time she had ever had anything she could sell to help her family in times of need.
